ALL-CHINA FEDERATION OF NATURAL SCIENCE WORKERS

In the establishment of the ACFNSW (All-China Federation of Natural Science Workers), the Preparatory Committee of the First All-China Natural Science Workers' Representative Conference played an important part. This representative conference was opened on 17 August 1950 at Ch'ing-hua University in Peiping and was attended by 468 delegates representing various scientific organizations of the Central People's Government, People's Liberation Army, local scientific societies, minority nationalities, etc.

The conference lasted 7 days and adopted a resolution to form two united and closely integrated scientific workers' organizations, namely the ACFNSW and the All-China Association for the Popularization of Science and Technology. The main task of the ACFNSW is: (1) to assist in the establishment of various natural science societies throughout China; (2) to undertake required research work; (3) to promote national and international scientific cooperation; (4) to raise production efficiency; (5) to conduct a national survey to determine the number of scientific workers in China; and (6) to allocate natural science workers to areas where most needed so as to facilitate the economic and cultural reconstruction work being undertaken in China.

A total of 17 natural science workers' representatives, including official delegates and alternates, participated in the Chinese People's Political Consultative Conference. Most of these representatives were, moreover, members of the National Committee of the ACFNSW.

Members of the ACFNSW who participated in the second and third meetings of the National Committee of the Chinese People's Political Consultative Conference included:
